Section C: Sample Open-Ended Responses

Respondent	Q11 – Benefits	Q12 – Improvement	Q15 – General Comments
Respondent 1	Yes, excellent health coverage.	More code-review time would help.	Overall a great place to work!
Respondent 2	Benefits are good but leave policy needs improvement.	More training sessions needed.	Happy to be here, but growth path is unclear.
Respondent 3	Benefits are average.	Sales targets feel unrealistic.	Management communication needs work.
Respondent 4	Great retirement benefits.	Process documentation could be improved.	Stable environment, solid team.
Respondent 5	WFH option is a big plus.	Creative freedom could be higher.	Love the culture and collaboration here.
Respondent 6	Paid leaves could be more.	Workflow automation is needed.	Decent place; operational processes need updating.

Q10	I would recommend this organization as a great place to work.	4.0	Moderate

2. Key Findings

- High Engagement in Core Areas: Employees scored highest on 'feeling valued and recognized' (Q4: 4.17) and 'willingness to recommend the organization' (Q10: 4.0), indicating a generally positive organizational sentiment.
- Communication & Feedback Gaps: Q3 (performance feedback, avg 3.83) and Q6 (growth opportunities, avg 3.5) scored below the 4.0 benchmark, suggesting that employees feel feedback cycles and career development pathways need strengthening.
- Compensation & Benefits Neutral: Q9 (satisfaction with benefits, avg 3.33) was the lowest-scoring item, with respondents from Sales and Operations expressing concern over compensation structure and paid leave entitlement.
- Work-Life Balance Moderately Rated: Q7 (work-life balance, avg 4.0) received a moderate score. Marketing and Finance employees rated it highly, while Sales respondents flagged unrealistic targets as a stressor.
- Strong Manager-Employee Relations: Q8 (open communication with managers, avg 4.0) reflects a generally healthy managerial relationship, with Engineering and Marketing respondents particularly positive about this aspect.

3. Recommendations

1. Strengthen Feedback Culture	Implement structured quarterly performance reviews and encourage weekly informal check-ins between managers and team members.
2. Career Development Programs	Create transparent promotion criteria and individual development plans (IDPs) for each employee to address growth concerns (Q6).
3. Review Compensation & Benefits	Conduct a benchmarking exercise to align salaries and benefits (especially paid leave and health coverage) with industry standards.
4. Employee Recognition Initiatives	Launch a formal recognition program (e.g., Employee of the Month, peer-to-peer kudos platform) to sustain the current high scores on Q4.
5. Engagement Activities	Introduce cross-departmental team lunches, innovation labs, and wellness programs as requested by multiple respondents to boost overall morale.

4. Conclusion

The overall engagement score of 3.85/5 (77.0%) reflects a moderately high level of employee satisfaction within the organization. Employees are broadly positive about their work environment, managerial relationships, and organizational culture. However, targeted action in the areas of career development, compensation review, and structured feedback will be critical to sustaining and improving engagement levels. It is recommended that HR revisit this survey on a bi-annual basis to track progress and adapt strategies accordingly.
